

UNCG ARCHAEOLOGY

Peter Ryan Awards

Peter Ryan is an alumnus of UNCG who died as a young man. In honor of his love for archaeology, Peter Ryan's family has generously given money to the university to support students who have engaged in archaeological fieldwork. Two competitive travel scholarships of $1000 each will be awarded to students who were participants in an archaeological field school project in 2018, have high GPAs, and who follow the guidelines below:

Guidelines:

1. Applicants must be registered majors in the Archaeology Program or in Classical Studies (with a concentration in Classical Archaeology).
2. Students must be eligible for financial aid (you must have completed a FAFSA application).
3. Qualified students who have participated in any archaeological project may apply for funding. The project does not have to be affiliated with UNCG. However, the Archaeology faculty reserve the right to request a syllabus from non-UNCG field projects.
4. Students must type a one-page essay with the following:
  - a. a description of the project's goals and methods
  - b. a discussion of what you learned on the project
  - c. include the email address of your project manager (who will be asked to comment briefly about the quality of your work on the project).
5. Applications must be written in a professional manner and be free of spelling, grammatical, and other types of mechanical errors.
6. Please include the following forms with your one-page description:
  - a. an unofficial copy of your transcript (you can download this from Genie)
  - b. the second page of this application should be your cover page.
7. Winners of travel grants will be asked to write a short description of their experiences for the Archaeology Program website.
8. All applications must be submitted in digital and hard copy to Linda Stine in 436 Graham by noon on Friday, October 26th. Late applications will not be considered.
